Police station set to reopen next month

Family fun on way at town's Festive Lights switch-on event

ORMSKIRK will be 'all a-glow' on Sunday, November 21 when the Christmas Lights Switch On takes place in the town centre.

The event will see the town come alive with fun and free family entertainment including Titan the Robot, children's entertainer Mr Stix and fun-filled rides.

The event starts at noon with the Christmas lights being officially switched on at 5pm by the Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Gordon Johnson.

It will be a scaled down event in comparison to previous years to ensure there is sufficient space for the public to comfortably access the town centre streets in a Covid safe manner.

Councillor Gaynor Owen, cabinet member for planning, said: "We have been through such dark times in the last 18 months and this year will hopefully feel nearer to previous festive seasons when the event was a great chance to get together with family and friends and enjoy the festive spirit while supporting our fantastic local businesses."

"We're looking forward to the festive celebrations in the new Skelmersdale town centre development next year, so there's lots to look forward to."

A selection of market stalls will also be in the town centre for shoppers to browse, as well as street food on offer.

Visitors will also be able to pick up presents for loved ones in the many fantastic shops that line the streets of the town centre.

SHE DIED SO YOUNG BUT TOUCHED THE HEART OF A COMMUNITY

Carly passed away from a rare form of cancer just a month after being taken ill

Report by Henry James

AN 11-year-old girl's death from a rare type of cancer less than a month after first complaining of stomach pains, has touched the town's community.

The family of Carly Woods want to raise awareness of the children's cancer called hepatocellular neoplasm which took the life of their daughter.

Carly's parents took the youngster to the A&E at Ormskirk Hospital after she spoke of stomach pains on Monday, October 4. The youngster, who attended Lathom High School had to stay the night and have some tests, and was then moved to Alder Hey hospital.

After more tests, the doctors found Carly had a rare type of cancer in her liver, which had also spread to her lungs.

Carly, from Skelmersdale, had more tests and a biopsy on Monday, October 11.

Two days later, Carly was diagnosed with Hepatocellular neoplasm (HC-NOS).

Carly had to have an operation to put chemotherapy lines in but unfortunately, this rare type of cancer was too aggressive to be treated and doctors took the sad decision not to continue any type of treatment.

Carly died on the evening of November 1 with her father John and mother Kelly by her side. She also leaves a sister, 13, a brother of 13, and two younger brothers.

A fundraising campaign has been set up by Gary Langdon, a family member of Carly's with the aim of raising awareness of this rare type of cancer and to raise donations to help the family.

John said: "It hasn't really sunk in yet. We want to put the message out there about how aggressive this form of cancer is."

"The doctors have taken samples from Carly, which hopefully will help save thousands of young people's lives, and stop other families having to go through the heartache we have suffered."

"That legacy is massive for such a small child."

"Everyone remembers Carly for her wild hair and her lively personality. She was very well liked. She was always with the kids on the estate and they saw her as a 'mini mum'. We want to thank the community for supporting us."

Council to create new Local Plan - and they want your feedback!

Residents invited to have a say as consultation set to launch later this week the best opportunity to take part and have their say." It will run until January 27 next year.

Report by Henry James

This is the first stage in preparing the council's new Local Plan. This will be a new plan to replace the one proposed in 2018 and will be a fresh start going forward.

There will be two more opportunities after this one for people to have input, and the council hope that the new Plan will be adopted by the end of 2024.

Councillor Gaynar Owen, cabinet member for planning, said: "Taking part in the consultation at this early stage will make sure your views help shape the overall direction the Plan goes in.

"For example, should we go for a very 'green' plan that has climate change at its heart? Do we want to go for growth in West Lancashire? Do we work towards a combination of the two approaches? We want to hear people's views on these important decisions."

The council are not looking at choosing housing or business sites at this point – that will be the focus of the next stage in approximately one year's time.

People can comment on the sites that were submitted to the council in last year's 'Call for Sites'.

The council has said: "We very much look forward to hearing from as many people as possible from across the borough to get as good a picture as we can on the approach people think the Council should take as we plan for the future."

Police station on track to reopen next month

Revamp of facility now complete

Report by Henry James

SKELMERSDALE Police station is on track to reopen its doors on December 14.

Refurbishment for the station on Southway, has taken just under 18 months and the building has now officially been handed back to the force from the contractors.

Work is underway internally to complete commission and equip the building.

The station will include an annexe which will provide a new welfare space for vulnerable victims.

There will also be new contemplation and prayer rooms, a gym and changing facilities provided for staff.

The building will provide a base for some of the local policing and response teams, an investigations hub and custody suite.

Lancashire's Police and Crime Commissioner was shown round the works to date.

He said: "It was great to be shown around the renovated station in Skelmersdale, as the development approaches the final stretch, ahead of the policing base in here the heart of the community reopening following this important work that brings the station into the 21st century.

"It's absolutely vital that our estate is fit for purpose and able to support the work

Superintendent Gary Crowe with head of estates and facilities management Cristina Marshall our officers and staff do to keep us safe.

"This is particularly important as we see additional officers go into our communities and onto our streets through the Government's uplift programme.

"I am committed to delivering on the public's priorities that they consistently tell me they want to see addressed, such as anti-social behaviour and criminal gangs.

"Ensuring we keep on top of our estate and ensure it meets our needs is an important part of my role, as I lead the fight against crime in Lancashire."

Head of estates and facilities management, Cristina Marshall added: "The investment in Skelmersdale station was necessary in West Lancashire to provide a site that is well placed to deliver our service to communities to keep people in the area safe.

"In addition, we have delivered a building which is an improved, safe and modern working environment for our staff."

Carly died so young but will leave behind a massive legacy

Gary writes on the fundraising page: "Carly's passing has undoubtedly left the whole family heartbroken and sent a ripple effect through the whole of Skelmersdale. Carly touched many hearts in the community.

"Any donations will be greatly appreciated to help the family in this sad time."

Lathom High School has raised £1,400 for Cancer Research at Alder Hey hospital and Hillside primary, where Carly also went to school, have fundraised too, and are going to have a memorial garden called 'Carly's Friendship Corner.'

Carly's funeral will be held today (Wednesday, November 17) at 3pm at Burscough crematorium.

The wake will be held in the Up Holland Labour Club.

Gary adds: "We welcome everyone to the service and the wake. Anyone who wishes to pay respects, but can't attend the service can do so by meeting at John and Kelly's house which is at the bottom of Ennerdale, Tanhouse between 1pm and 1.15pm when the hearse will arrive at the house.

"The service is going to be streamed. We have a website and link if you would like to watch the service. This is only being given out if you contact myself directly for this.

"For the celebration of Carly we are going to do a balloon release, if you would like to bring a balloon. There will be fireworks as well and we also have got a local singer to celebrate Carly's legacy.

"Please can you wear colour to the service.

"If anyone has any questions regarding any of this please contact me directly."

Ukulele Festival raised £2,000 for NHS charities

PROFITS from this summer's Parbulele Ukulele Festival went to NHS Charities Together.

A cheque for £2,640 was handed to the NHS Charities Together by the mayor of West Lancashire, Cllr Gordon Johnson last week.

Gary Smith, the organiser of Parbulele said: "Usually any money raised goes back into village activities.

"However, this year because of the pandemic we decided to donate it to NHS Charities Together.

"This year was a brilliant festival and was probably the best ever. It

Speeding driver who seriously injured girl in crash sent to jail

'Her decision to drive dangerously that night will affect a family for the rest of their lives'

Report by Henry James

A SPEEDING driver from Aughton has been sent to jail for causing an accident in Maghull last year which left a seven-year-old girl with serious injuries.

Deborah McGovern, 51, of Gaw Hill View, was driving a Range Rover "dangerously at speed" when it collided with a Mercedes car at the junction of Northway and Eastway in Maghull on the evening of Tuesday, October 27, 2020.

The girl, who was a passenger in the Mercedes, was taken to hospital with life-changing head injuries where she received extensive treatment.

Following extensive enquiries including CCTV and witness appeals, McGovern was interviewed and charged with causing serious injury by dangerous driving.

She was sentenced to 16 months in prison at Liverpool Crown Court on Wednesday, November 10. She was also disqualified from driving for two years, eight months.

Roads Policing Inspector Ryan Lowry, who led the investigation, said: "McGovern's decision to drive at speed and dangerously that night will affect a young girl and her family for the rest of their lives.

"The manner of her driving could have killed someone, and it is only thanks to the response of the emergency services, treatment from Alder Hey Hospital and ongoing treatment that the little girl is now on a long road to recovery.

"But her head injury has lifelong effects, and the psychological impact of such trauma to her and her family is impossible to measure.

"I also hope that the impact this has had on the victim, and on the life of McGovern, will serve as a powerful reminder to anyone who would consider driving dangerously, so that some good can come of such an awful situation.

"Speed limits exist for very good reason, and failure to adhere to them can lead to terrible, life-changing moments such as this.

"Driving at excess speed, impaired by drink, drugs or distracted whilst at the wheel has a huge effect on the reactions and ability of drivers.

"The Merseyside area sees an average of 56 serious injury collisions to children every year, we are committed to reducing such incidents."

Banks mum refused life-saving treatment for allergy condition

Medics told Anita there's no evidence to back up her 'anaphylaxis' condition - despite being rushed to hospital for emergency care

Report by Tom Martin

A MUM claims she is unable to get a prescription from the NHS for life-saving allergy treatment - despite collapsing and needing hospital care after a severe reaction to an elderflower drink.

Anita Roberston, who lives in Banks, was told by a consultant allergist in December 2019 that there was "no evidence" that she has anaphylaxis, despite suffering reactions since 2017 after she started to develop allergies to certain foods and medicines.

In February 2020, she collapsed at a Tesco cafe in Chorley and was rushed to Chorley and South Ribble Hospital for urgent treatment after having a reaction to elderflower.

Anita claims that despite this happening 21 months ago, she is still having problems getting a prescription for EpiPen.

EpiPen, which is the brand name of an auto-injectable device that delivers the drug epinephrine, is a life-saving medication that acts on the whole body to block the progression of the allergic response.

Anita believes her reaction is caused by a sugar alcohol called mannitol, which is in foods and medicine, and she can no longer eat certain vegetables and fruit.

Because the consultant allergist determined she does not have anaphylaxis, this diagnosis has been issued to her GP and means she is still battling to get regular prescriptions for EpiPens.

The allergist's letter was issued after Anita had to attend Salford Royal Hospital after suffering a reaction while shopping in the Trafford Centre.

In the letter, which has been seen by the Champion, the doctor states: "I suggest that we do not continue to prescribe an adrenaline auto-injector for this lady, as there is no evidence that she ever had anaphylaxis or is at risk of anaphylaxis."

Anita Robertson

Her husband, Kevin, told the Champion: "A doctor she has never met or even spoken to sent a letter saying she has never had anaphylaxis to the local A&E department, who can now refuse to treat her for an allergic reaction. The letter was also passed to her GP, who refused to prescribe EpiPens even though she had been carrying them for three years.

"A few days after the GP refused to prescribe an EpiPen, she collapsed in the cafe at Tesco in Chorley and the in-store pharmacist had to give her adrenaline while we waited for the paramedics.

"Even after that when the paramedics arrived they said she had anaphylaxis and gave her a second dose of adrenaline and rushed her off to Chorley A&E under blue light because they said her throat was closing.

"My wife was admitted to Chorley and later that night the reaction came back and the doctors had to give her a third dose of adrenaline, so if the pharmacist hadn't given the first dose it's possible my wife would have died because of this doctor.

"I could have been coming home and telling our kids and that mummy is gone."

The Champion contacted Royal Salford Hospital for comment.

Dignitaries at the Remembrance Sunday Service at Coronation Park in Ormskirk

Borough honours fallen on Remembrance Sunday

COMMUNITIES in West Lancashire paid tribute on Remembrance Sunday and Armistice Day to those who have lost their lives serving the country.

Armistice Day tributes took place on November 11 followed by Remembrance Sunday commemorations across the Borough on November 14.

Pub flushed with success after winning top toilet award!

Report by Henry James

AN Ormskirk pub has won acclaim for the quality and standard of its toilets - in the Loo of the Year Awards 2021.

The Court Leet, in Wheatsheaf Walk, has been awarded a platinum rating by inspectors.

The awards are aimed at highlighting and improving standards of 'away from home' toilet provision across the UK.

Loo of the Year Awards inspectors made unannounced visits to thousands of toilets at sites across the UK, in order to judge them.

All of the toilets are graded silver, gold, platinum or diamond with unacceptable toilets not graded at all.

The toilets are judged against numerous criteria, including decor and maintenance, cleanliness, accessibility, hand washing and drying equipment and overall management.

The Court Leet, a Wetherspoon pub, is managed by Lisa Newton. She said: "We are delighted with the award. Staff at the pub ensure the toilets are in excellent condition at all times and it is great that this has been recognised by the inspectors."

The Loo of the Year Awards 2021 managing director, Becky Wall, said: "The toilets at The Court Leet have been designed and fitted out to a very high standard and are both clean and well maintained.

"The pub deserves its platinum award."

Heritage Group to close as bid to find new members fails

Report by Henry James

BURSCOUGH Heritage Group, which was formed to promote the history of the town and the canal that runs through it has closed.

The community group started life as the Burscough Village Canal Heritage group and has continued for more than ten years, with the shortened name.

The group organised an annual heritage weekend until the Covid pandemic and also ran history meetings on winter's evenings.

Members installed information boards around the village; introduced a "much appreciated" bench on the towpath of the Leeds and Liverpool canal outside the wharf and did work visiting schools and with other groups informing people of the history of the town.

Former publicity officer of the Burscough Heritage group, Colin Wareing, said: "The main group of people organising the events, meetings and school visits had remained fairly constant, though with dwindling numbers, throughout the years and they felt it was time for a rest.

"Despite appealing for new people to step up no one came forward, so the group is now being wound up and the artefacts and assets will be disposed of."

One of the last public acts of the group was the unveiling of two new benches for public use on the canal towpath alongside Burscough Wharf.

The members of the group want to thank all the other organisations and businesses that have supported them over the years.

Councillor Brian Kennedy and Tom Spencer on the bench at the wharf which was provided by the heritage group.

At the last public event of the Burscough Heritage group, Burscough Town Council chairman, Brian Kennedy and the BHG chairman Tom Spencer took the first sit on one of two new canal side benches.

The benches have been installed alongside Burscough Wharf to complement the one installed by the BHG back in 2016 to celebrate the bicentenary of the opening of the Leeds and Liverpool canal that runs through the town.

Councillor Kennedy has dedicated the benches for the use of the community of Burscough and in memory of former deceased members of the group: Kath Webster, Mike Allen and Shelia Petherbridge.

Cyclist completes charity challenge to spread awareness of condition

Report by Henry James

A MUM from Burscough who has pulmonary hypertension has completed a 21 kilometre cycle fundraiser.

Katie Eaton, 36, organised the event on November 7 in aid of the Pulmonary Hypertension Association (PHA).

Pulmonary hypertension is high blood pressure in the blood vessels that supply the lungs.

Katie said: "I would just like to spread awareness of the symptoms of the disease in the hope that it is picked up earlier for other people, as many go undiagnosed for a long time making the condition more difficult to treat."

"I have had PH for 13 years now and responded well to my first lot of treatment for over ten years."

"This medication allowed me to function like a 'normal' person I would often go and swim, run, cycle and even completed a ten mile Tough Mudder course in 2019 just months before my PH symptoms started to progress again."

"A couple of years ago my body stopped responding as well to the medication and I got considerably worse over the course of a year before I was started on 24 hr IV therapy at the beginning of this year."

"I now have a Hickman line and have to carry a pump that pumps medication into my bloodstream every three minutes. Prior to starting on this new medication, I struggled to walk up my stairs, dress or stand for any period of time because I was in significant heart failure and was overloaded with fluid."

"My new medication has considerably improved my quality of life, I have been able to return to my role as an occupational therapist in the NHS, I exercise at least four times a week while also juggling a busy family/home life."

Katie completed this ride in Horwich with her partner and little boy.

They have raised £890 so far but would be grateful if people would like to donate further. For more information visit the website: <https://bit.ly/3wCYc53>

Pupils turn into politicians!

UK Parliament Week has been a success at Delph Side Primary School in Skelmersdale.

The school on Eskdale has been investigating the role of MPs in the House of Commons, law making and voting.

They have also been holding class debates about sustainability and climate change.

Council-run disability service rated as 'Good' by inspectors

A SKELMERSDALE-based service that supports people with disabilities has been rated as 'good' by the Care Quality Commission (CQC).

West Lancs Domiciliary Service was awarded the rating following a recent inspection.

The Lancashire County Council-run service provides support for adults who have a disability to live in their own home as independently as they can.

Care workers provide personalised support for all aspects of daily living and social activities. There are currently 46 people using the service.

The latest CQC rating shows the service is safe, effective, well-led and responsive with caring staff.

County Councillor Graham Gooch, cabinet member for adult services, said: "This service is a key part of the local health and social care system in West Lancs."

"The team does such a good job supporting people with a range of disabilities 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with every-day tasks and a whole host of other activities."

"Support like this is essential because it ensures people can live as independently as possible in their own home for as long as possible, improving their quality of life."

"The latest rating shows the service is well run, safe and has excellent staff, which is reassuring for people who use the service and their families."

"These inspections are rightly tough and it's difficult to achieve a 'good' rating in all areas. Congratulations to the team for their hard work."

Anyone wanting more information about the support that West Lancs Domiciliary Service provides can call (01695) 587433.

Closing walk-in centre for a day due to shortage of staff 'unacceptable' says borough's MP

'Clinic offers only healthcare option for many people in town'

By Henry James

PLANS need to be put in place to ensure adequate staffing of Skelmersdale NHS Walk-In Centre after it was forced to close for a day last month says the town's MP.

The clinic in the town's Concourse was shut on Saturday, October 30 due to a shortage of staff and the town's MP Rosie Cooper has urged West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group to put plans in place to ensure this doesn't happen again.

She said the walk-in centre is often the only option residents in Skelmersdale have to get medical help as the town does not have a hospital.

The MP said: "It is unacceptable for it to be closed, even for a day.

"Patients were forced to choose between waiting until it re-opened or travelling to the Ormskirk Walk-In Centre. Unfortunately, for some people neither of these will have been possible.

"Without a hospital in the town, the Skelmersdale Walk-In Centre is often the only option that residents have to get medical help, rather than waiting weeks for a GP appointment!

"There is very poor public transport between Skelmersdale and Ormskirk, I was very concerned that people who don't drive would be forced to wait for the centre to reopen.

"The same issue arose last year, and I made the same points then.

"I appreciate the NHS is under pressure and staff absences cannot be avoided, and these risks have been known throughout the pandemic.

"The CCG must put a plan in place to ensure this clinic has no unnecessary down time. We cannot allow Skelmersdale residents health care to be forgotten."

Michelle Lee, managing director of Virgin Care in West Lancashire, said: "Due to a shortage of staff as a result of COVID-19, the decision was made to close the Skelmersdale Walk-in-Centre on two separate occasions.

"Patient safety is a priority for us and such closures will always be a last resort.

"At no point did anyone need to wait for the centre to re-open to access care: local people had access to support via NHS 111, our out-of-hours GP service and via telephone triage and assessments."

A spokesperson for NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "We recognise how frustrating it must be for patients who have been unable to access the walk-in centre in Skelmersdale.

"We will continue to work closely with Virgin Care to minimise any disruption in the future and look at how we can try to prevent incidents occurring that result in temporary closure of the site."

Mobile CCTV scheme to combat fly tipping

MOBILE CCTV is to be piloted in West Lancashire in a move to combat fly tipping in the borough.

The move has been welcomed by the Our West Lancashire (OWL) party who originally backed the idea in February.

The party says the council investigated 468 fly tipping incidents in 2020, more than double the number the previous year.

Councillor Kate Mitchell, OWL's Street scene spokesperson said: "The cameras to be trialled are relatively inexpensive and easy to install.

Fly tipping at Blackacre Lane in Ormskirk in 2020.

"All locations will have signage stating that CCTV is being used in the location. This covers the legal requirements for their use and should in itself act as a deterrent."

Cllr Mitchell added: "Fly tipping costs the council £10,000's a year to deal with and is a problem in many parts of the borough.

"Last year, OWL Councillors in Bickerstaffe and Ormskirk addressed repeated fly tips in their wards, but it's a problem in Skelmersdale and other parts of the borough too.

"These cameras are being used successfully by other councils to reduce fly tipping offences and I'm delighted that this suggestion from Our West Lancashire has been taken forward by council officers."

Merseyrail users who bought tickets online being 'unfairly' fined

Travellers who use Trainline are forced to pay a penalty because they can't print off purchased items at station

Report by Henry James

RAIL booking firm Trainline should not be allowed to sell Merseyrail tickets, as rail users are being fined at Liverpool Central because they are unable to print their pre-purchased ticket at Ormskirk Station, West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper has said.

One traveller was fined despite being able to show proof of purchasing a ticket online, the MP said.

When they appealed, providing evidence of the purchase, Merseyrail upheld the fine saying she was required to have produced a physical ticket.

Ms Cooper said: "People who have bought a ticket online will understandably be shocked to receive a fine when there was no ticket machine to print it and they can give evidence of the purchase on their phone."

"Merseyrail should not allow Trainline to sell tickets online if they don't accept them. They insist on tickets being printed at a station but this is not possible."

"What is even more surprising is that Merseyrail then stand by their decision on appeal even when given evidence of a ticket purchase!"

She added that Trading Standards need to consider whether both Merseyrail and Trainline are "setting customers up to be fined" by selling their tickets online, saying this is "blatantly unfair."

"There needs to be a common-sense approach to fines, not a blanket policy that fails to take into account the lack of ticket printing capability."

Suzanne Grant, commercial director at Merseyrail, said: "We currently do not have the technology to accept barcode tickets or e-tickets sold by third parties."

"This is made clear on our website and via signage at our stations, as well as through third party retailer websites."

"We are actively looking to update and modernise our ticketing systems and more information will be available as soon as developments are made."

Survivor of Westminster terror attack looks to combat radicalisation

Report by Henry James

AN Edge Hill student who survived the Westminster Bridge terror attack has launched a project to give a voice to the victims and survivors of terrorism and combat the rise in online radicalisation and increased extremist activity.

PhD History student Travis D Frain was on a trip to the Houses of Parliament in 2017 with 12 other Edge Hill students when he was hit by a 4X4 vehicle on Westminster Bridge.

He sustained a number of injuries requiring surgery and was in hospital for eight days.

He has now started the 'Resilience in Unity Project' while working from home during the Covid-19 lockdowns, with the aim of creating a platform for the testimonies of survivors of terrorism to act as a counter-narrative against extremism.

Throughout the pandemic, the 23-year old from Lancashire recorded video testimonies of more than 30 people affected by terrorist acts around the world, hailing from 15 different countries and affected by a range of ideologies.

Travis designed an online interactive mapping tool exhibiting these stories for use as a free resource to educate young people in schools on the impacts of terrorism and for use by practitioners on the frontlines of combatting radicalisation.

Travis said: "Survivors of terrorism can provide one of the strongest counter narratives possible against radicalisation, by dispelling the mistruths spread by extremists and demonstrating first-hand the very real effects of terrorism.

"Often victims are both willing and eager to assist efforts aimed at countering terrorism and preventing future attacks, they are simply not afforded the opportunity to do so."

Travis Frain

"I'm proud that through the Resilience in Unity Project, we can amplify those voices and take the fight directly to the hate preachers and extremists that seek to divide us."

The project, which has received the support of Counter Terrorism Policing UK, the National Emergencies Trust, and several victims' organisations, was officially launched at an event in London attended by more than 200 guests.

The 'Resilience in Unity Project' is calling on the public to broaden education around the realities of terrorism and listen to those directly affected with the aim of building resilience within their own communities against extremism and radicalisation.

The platform is free and open to the public for use as a resource in lesson plans and presentations, and can be accessed by going to www.ResilienceinUnity.com

When I wear a mask on a train it protects you

Re: Masks on trains letter.

When I wear a mask in a shop or on a train it is to protect YOU.

When you wear one it protects me.

If you don't wear one it means that if you are infectious, possibly without knowing it and with no symptoms, you will be spreading it into the air around you.

And people within range, like me, could easily become infected as a result.

Maybe become very ill, maybe die.

In any hospital in England you have to wear a mask when you go through the door.

Why do you think that is?

Of course if you are above the law and feel happy to potentially spread the disease to everyone else like the Prime Minister did in Hexham General Hospital you can ignore that. (Who cares about saving lives?)

If you choose not to protect your neighbours on the train or elsewhere by not wearing a mask that is presently your choice.

What does that tell us about you?

William Hite,
Skelmersdale

Kindness makes for a better world

Thank you for printing my letter a few weeks ago regarding the three school boys who handed my friend's handbag into Aughton Village Hall after my friend had inadvertently left it on a bench outside.

We have both tried to find the boys to thank them but to no avail.

My friend has also been unable to trace them through the school either.

Because she was so grateful she has now donated the money she was carrying in her handbag to the Children's in Need Rick Saw Challenge.

We hope that if the boys concerned manage to hear of this, they will be pleased to see that their kindness has resulted in another kindness happening.

After all kindness and care is what makes a better happier world for all of us.

Judy Ingman,
Aughton

Ambulance service not to blame for response delays

I would like to complain about the front page article in the West Lancashire Champion attacking the North West Ambulance Service for not attending a call in a timely manner and accusations of a poor service.

The article lays the blame with NWAS, but I know people who work for NWAS and it is not their fault.

The comments from Rosie Cooper MP makes it look like NWAS are incompetent.

It is not just a job for ambulance staff and paramedics, it is a vocation for these people and it can be quite difficult and dangerous at times.

So where are the ambulances when someone needs one? I will tell you.

They are en route to a higher priority job, helping someone less fortunate, en route to hospital with a patient, or stuck outside a hospital A&E unable to hand over the patient for hours.

This means they are unable to leave so they can get back out there and attend another job.

North West Ambulance Service was criticised by the MP.

Underfunded, under resourced, and frustrated, these frontline heroes need support not slamming by MP Rosie Cooper.

Name supplied,
By email

My father had to be taken to hospital in the back of a builder's van

The appalling service West Lancashire is receiving from the ambulance service is being blamed on the current pandemic.

However my father fell in Ormskirk, on his way back to his car, and broke his hip on November 5, 2019, which was three months prior to the pandemic.

A member of the public came to his aid and called the ambulance service she was told the waiting time was five hours.

Seeing how much pain and distress my 80-year old father was in and taking into account the cold weather, she knew it was dangerous to leave him for that length of time.

She flagged down a man in a van, together they obtained pillows from a nearby shop and he was taken to Southport Hospital IN THE BACK OF A BUILDER'S VAN.

My father has never returned home after this incident.

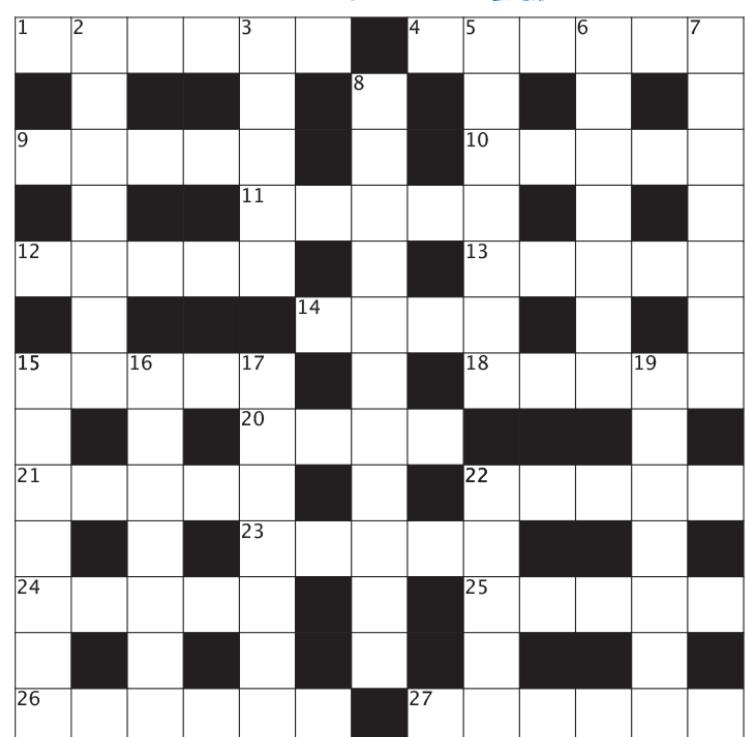

This is evidence that the Covid pandemic is being used as an excuse to cover up poor services, especially public services where the government have made too many cuts over the last few years.

Lancashire is too big of a county to just have one ambulance service as, they cover Lancashire and parts of Cumbria.

WEST LANCASHIRE BOROUGH COUNCIL

YOUR AREA YOUR PLAN YOUR SAY

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN WHAT HAPPENS IN YOUR LOCAL AREA?

A Local Plan sets out the planning policies in a local area which are used to help determine planning applications. As we prepare a Local Plan we make important decisions about the future of the Borough.

The Government requires Councils to have an up to date plan in place to make sure our planning policies remain current. This will allow us to continue to appropriately manage and guide where and what development takes place.

The Council is starting work on a new Local Plan (2023-2040) for West Lancashire and we expect it will take 3-4 years to prepare.

Help us decide what the Local Plan should consider

The first part of the process is to determine what the Local Plan should cover – or its ‘scope’. We need to look at lots of different data, information and evidence and use that to identify the main ISSUES facing West Lancashire - social, economic, and environmental - that planning can help address.

We then need to think about how the Local Plan can help tackle all those different issues by considering the OPTIONS for how our planning policies could best respond.

So, this stage is called ‘Issues and Options’ and we want to know YOUR VIEWS on them!

What do you think are the main issues for everyone who lives in, works in and visits West Lancashire?

We've listed some of the bigger issues we have identified on these pages. A detailed list can be found in our consultation documents.

Do you agree or disagree with the issues that we have identified? Can you suggest anything else that should be included?

For each issue we've identified, we want to know how best to address it. We've prepared some suggestions of different policy options we could use but we want your views on which planning policy options you think are the most appropriate.

How should we respond to the needs of everyone in our Borough?

Have you any other suggestions as to how we can best address the issues facing the Borough through our planning policies?

What do you agree or disagree with?

OUR PEOPLE, HOUSING AND SERVICES

What are some of the issues?

- o An increasing elderly population and a decreasing working-age population.
- o Inequalities between different areas of the Borough – with some areas having lower life expectancy, lower education levels and more limited job opportunities than other areas
- o Improving the health of our residents
- o The affordability of housing
- o The needs of the travelling community
- o Student accommodation needs
- o Supporting access to services, facilities, jobs and transport

LOCAL PLAN 2023-2040

OUR ENVIRONMENT

What are some of the issues?

- o Responding and adapting to the climate emergency
- o Providing renewable and low carbon energy
- o Improving the design of new buildings to make them energy and water efficient
- o Protecting and enhancing nature and wildlife
- o Supporting cycling and walking, buses and trains and reducing car usage
- o Managing flood risk

OUR ECONOMY

What are some of the issues?

- o Strengthening the local economy
- o Improving training and skills
- o Protecting and enhancing town centres and what they offer
- o Protecting agricultural land and supporting rural businesses
- o Promoting tourism

Our consultation will be open between the 18th November 2021 and the 27th January 2022

IT'S NOT ABOUT SITES – YET

You may wonder what might happen near you under the new Plan but we are not thinking about specific sites yet. This stage is just about identifying the issues facing the Borough, and the options for how we can tackle them. Where we will locate development will be decided in the future. However, if you have a site that you think would be suitable for development, you can send us the details through www.westlancs.gov.uk/shelaa. We will assess all the suggestions we receive as part of our on-going work. Submission of a site does not guarantee it will be suitable for development.

THE DATES AND TIMES ARE:

Friday 26th November	11am-12noon

Pupils hold prayer vigils to mark importance of COP 26 climate summit

'We desperately want to see world leaders united in their efforts to best address these vital goals'

Report by Henry James

PUPILS at St Bede's Catholic School, Ormskirk, organised two ecumenical prayer vigils to recognise the importance of the COP 26 climate conference.

Climate scientists say the conference represented possibly one of the last opportunities for the nations of the world to ensure that the Paris Agreement of 2015 results in meaningful global action, to ensure that global warming is halted.

The vigils aimed to offer people the opportunity to take time out of their day to stop, reflect, and pray at a time when crucial decisions were being made.

The pupils worked with members of the environment group from St Annes Church and prepared the prayers and reflections which were based upon the four key goals for COP 26.

They included countries providing more ambitious climate plans, adaptation measures to protect the environment, agreeing on finance to support poorer countries and agreeing a rule-book to guide their future collaboration.

As part of the vigil, individuals were also asked to reflect on personal environmental pledges they could make; as a symbol of their commitment, these ribbons were tied on a pledge tree in the grounds of St Anne's Church.

A spokesperson for St Bede's Laudato Si Environmental group stated: "We understand how important these talks are and we desperately want to see leaders and diplomats united in their determination to address these goals and move forwards.

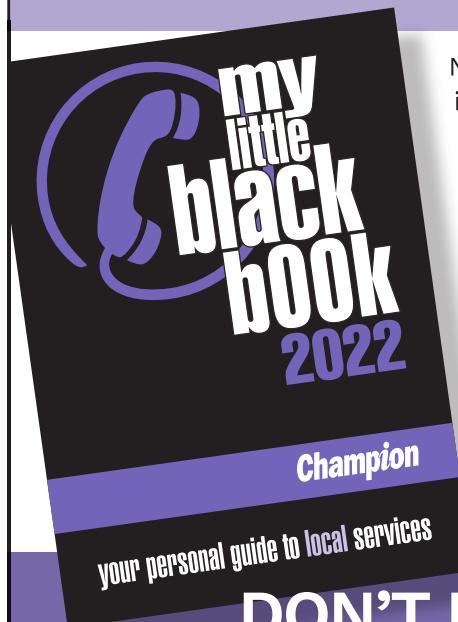

"In addition to the practical steps we can take as individuals to protect our environment, we also recognise the power of prayer in the successful outcome of the conference.

"Our prayer service was an ecumenical event and so we extended our invitation to all churches in the area.

"It was really lovely to see so many people coming together as one family."

Daniels double sends Linnets into top four

Burscough 3
 Charnock Richard 0

BURSCOUGH climbed into the top four after they continued their fine form with a comfortable win over Charnock Richard, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Both teams set off determined to win. Charnock goalkeeper Callum Jakovlevs made a terrific save from Jack Hont, while the visitors Danny Regan scared Burscough with a shot that just went over the crossbar.

The Linnets opened the scoring just before half time when Chris Lomax calmly put the ball past Jakovlevs to make it 1-0.

Burscough hit Charnock with a whirlwind after the restart and by the 50th minute it was effectively all over as a contest with the score 3-0.

Daniels made it 2-0 pouncing on the ball after a John Connolly shot was blocked away by Jakovlevs, steering the ball onto the net unchallenged.

The third and killer goal also came from Daniels, his low shot hitting the post before squirming into the net for 3-0.

Burscough where now terrorising Charnock and Daniels was unlucky not to complete his hat-trick on 56 minutes before Mitch Kinsella thumped the crossbar with a header off a corner.

Before the end Daniels must have been cursing his luck as he was denied the match ball after missing late chances.

Skelmersdale United 0
Macclesfield 0

THE top two teams in the league played out a goalless draw last Saturday, but there were plenty of chances and talking points to entertain the bumper crowd, writes Kevin Panther.

The away side were spurred on by former Premier League midfielder Neil Danns, who was pulling all the strings and they had the better of the early exchanges.

However, it was United who had the first serious effort when Danny Mitchley flashed an effort across goal.

As Skelmersdale got more into the game young midfielder Abdul Djalo took the mantle, forcing his side forward at every opportunity with some telling passes and some timely tackles.

Tom Croughan could have put United ahead with a drive from 25 yards, with Macclesfield's former Skem Championship winning goalkeeper Sam Ashton gathering comfortably. The visitors replied with an audacious chip from Danns that had Barnes back peddling to tip over.

Both managers will have been pleased with the first half performance, the large crowd producing a terrific atmosphere worthy of the best two teams in the division.

After the interval, again the Silkmen piled on the pressure with Lloyd Berry stinging the hands of Ben Barnes but the Skem defence led by a commanding performance from Player of the Month Joe Herbert held firm. It gradually became nip and tuck as the teams looked for the vital goal that would have could easily make the difference between league winners and not at the end of April.

After 70 minutes Skem went very close, substitute Joe Nicholson saw his shot just graze the outside of the post.

In the closing minutes both sides were going all out for a win but it would have been unjust if either side had lost. When the referee blew for full-time there was relief from both sets of supporters. It the right result from an enticing afternoon's football.

United manger Paul McNally said: "The game could have gone either way. No one gained any ground and we look forward to our visit to the Moss Rose in January."

Next matches:

- Longridge Town vs Skelmersdale.

Saturday, November 20. Kick off 3pm.

- AFC Liverpool vs Skelmersdale. Tuesday, November 23. Kick off 7.45pm.

Martin Mere news

An incredible 75 year milestone for WWT charity which runs Martin Mere

From pulling birds back from extinction to creating wonderful new nature friendly habitats - the Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust (WWT) which runs WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre celebrated 75 years of ground breaking conservation work this past week. The charity shares the wonders of wetlands and wetland wildlife with over 40 million visitors at its sites across the UK, 200,000 of which visit Martin Mere.

Described by Sir David Attenborough as the "patron saint of conservation", Sir Peter Scott founded WWT on the banks of the River Severn in 1946 with just 1,000 members and one site at Slimbridge in Gloucestershire. Since then, the charity has grown to ten UK sites including WWT Martin Mere, created and helped to protect thousands of hectares of wetlands around the world, and is now supported by more than 180,000 members.

"Sir Peter Scott was an extraordinary man and in 1946 he had a vision - to create a safe haven for wild birds while at the same time bringing people closer to nature. He had that same vision in 1975 when Martin Mere was opened" said WWT Chief Operating Officer, Kevin Peberdy. "He understood that people and nature are part of the same intertwined ecosystem. He realised - ahead of his time - that our wealth, our health and our emotional wellbeing all depend on the natural world. He appreciated that showing people how amazing wetland nature is can ignite a passion to preserve it."

In its 75 years, WWT has had a huge number of achievements and hit many milestones. These include:

- Restoring and creating wetlands on every continent and along critical global flyways
- Building a global network of over 350 wetland sites and organisations that share WWT's passion for wetland protection and engagement.
- Working on action plans for over 30 threatened and declining wetland species and the wetlands on which they depend
- Through understanding their value for wetland birds, helped protect over 700,000 hectares of the UK's most important wetlands
- Helping more than two million children to discover the magic of wetland wildlife
- Providing a safe haven for 15 million migratory birds to spend the winter at our UK sites
- None of this would be achievable without our incredible staff, volunteers and supporters who visit and support WWT Martin Mere and we would like to thank everyone who enjoys a day out with us. By doing this you are helping to support the conservation of wetlands across the globe and combating the nature, climate, and mental health crises. Thank you" said Nick Brooks, General Manager for Martin Mere.

Planting enough trees to offset my car's emissions for a year comes to a dizzying.... £20!

LIFE ON CARS
with
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

FORESTS. They make excellent backdrops for Ford Escorts and Audi quattros sliding about sideways and making lots of noise – but it turns out they have a rather more useful application if you're into old cars.

For years we've been using the nation's woodlands for rally stages, where men in bobble hats can converge in the freezing cold, waiting patiently for a split-second glimpse of a Subaru or a Mitsubishi being driven to within an inch of its life by a Scandinavian with no fear. They're also good for woodland walks and providing squirrels with food and shelter, of course, but it transpires that they're also rather handy for capturing carbon too. Which has given the nation's classic car experts an idea.

It's easy to think of historic vehicles – as in anything over 30 years old with wheels and an engine, and which also includes old cars exempted from road tax by the government – as being just about the worst thing going for environmental damage. There's no way an Austin A35 or a Vauxhall Victor can match a brand new Nissan Juke for tailpipe emissions, and for the vast majority of these really old cars, they aren't even being used for essential commutes. One accusation I had put to me a few years ago is that we are, quite literally, polluting for fun. Which is, of course, nonsense.

Carbon offsetting could help to keep older cars on the road in an eco-friendly way

This is largely because while there are more than 1.5million historic cars, bikes, trucks and buses on the DVLA's records, they account for less than a quarter of one per cent of the nation's driving every year, because the vast majority of them never go more than 1,500 miles in a year, trundling back and forth to shows. It is a drop in the ocean pollution-wise – but even a drop is too much, which is why classic car owners like me are being asked to do their bit.

This week the Federation of British Historic Vehicle Clubs – the umbrella body for most of the UK's car clubs – has set up a scheme to offset the carbon emissions of older cars. In essence, you punch into a website what your car is and how many miles you've done in it – and it tells you how many trees you'll need to have planted to undo the damage, and what it'll cost.

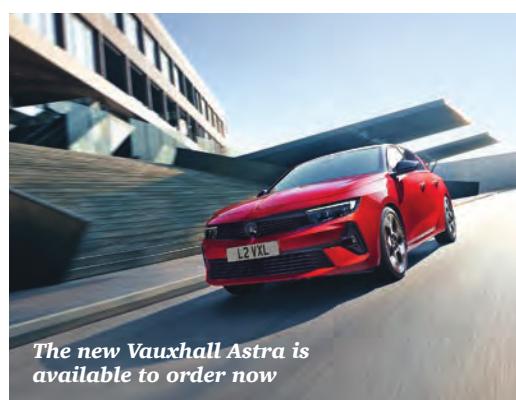

For my Reliant Scimitar GTE the cost of planting enough trees to offset my car's emissions for a year comes to a frankly dizzying.... £20. For the cost of a round of drinks or a cheap pair of jeans I can enjoy a year's worth of taking my old car to shows, knowing that I've done a little bit to help the environment. I'm not going to pretend that it alone will save the penguins, but it's a start, and it's a far more enjoyable way of being eco-friendly than using paper straws that disintegrate the instant you try to drink anything through them.

Added bonus – we'll get more rally stages too. What's not to like?
